

Most survey monuments are buried or hard to find. When a surveyor performs a boundary survey, they dig a “plug” and uncover the monument for the client. There are lots of different kinds of survey monuments. Here are some of the most common monuments used. These monuments meet MO state statutes for property corner monuments.

Aluminium rod

Cotton spindle

Cross

Stone

Double monument (iron pipes)

Rebar with cap

Cross on curb and in driveway